Welcome

Welcome to the University of Waikato's graduation ceremonies. I am honoured to host you at this special occasion where we celebrate the wonderful achievements of our graduands and also acknowledge the support that their friends and family have contributed to those achievements.

Together we all share the graduands' pride in their success, and wish the well for the future.

Professor Roy Crawford
Vice-Chancellor

A Brief History of the University of Waikato Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato

The University of Waikato/Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato had its origins in 1956, when a small group of visionary individuals began working towards the founding of a university for the people of the South Auckland region. In 1959 a College was established in Hamilton, as a branch of Auckland University, and in 1964 the new University of Waikato enrolled its first students. The official opening ceremony for the University took place in 1965 in the presence of the Governor-General Sir Bernard Fergusson (later Lord Ballantrae).

From these modest beginnings, on what was largely farmland and with only a handful staff and temporary buildings, the University of Waikato now provides around 80 qualifications to a student population of approximately 13,000, of whom more than 4,000 complete a qualification annually. In 1998 the University of Waikato started to offer courses in the CBD in Tauranga. Today, the University employs approximately 2000 staff and makes a major contribution to the social and cultural life, as well as the economy, of the Waikato and Bay of Plenty regions.

The Waikato and The Bay of Plenty, with their rich pastures and industrial backbone, are a very significant part of the economy of New Zealand. Education and research in these regions were worth $907 million in 2006, an increase of 52% since 2001. The University's economic contribution to the Waikato and Bay of Plenty is worth $780 million, and its operations and student expenditure support about 5% of the regional workforce. It is widely recognised that future economic growth and wealth in the Waikato and The Bay of Plenty depend heavily on the educational success of the people and the creation of knowledge to drive innovation. These in turn depend on strong connections between the University and the communities it serves.

The University has recently embarked on the delivery of an ambitious new Vision for the future. The key themes of the Vision are Excellence, Distinctiveness and International Connectedness. We are committed to delivering a world-class education and research portfolio, providing a full and dynamic university experience which is distinctive in character and pursuing strong international linkages to advance knowledge.

The University of Waikato is building for the future on a foundation of excellence in teaching and research. Our students are taught in a research-intensive environment by world leaders in their fields. We foster excellence in learning and scholarship and, as the creators of knowledge, we encourage our students to be leaders and innovators. We produce graduates who are globally competitive by ensuring that our academic staff are internationally connected and benchmarked against the best in the world.

Excellence with regard to educational and research outcomes relies on the recruitment, retention and support of world-class staff and the provision of world-class facilities. Academic leadership and a culture of high performance are therefore among the highest investment priorities for the University.

Closely associated with its student focus is the University's strong reputation for its excellent and innovative approach to student learning support. Its track-record of effectiveness in supporting students in the transition from foundation and bridging programmes is evident in the high rates of transfer into mainstream degree programmes and their high retention and success rates. A Pathways College has recently been established and its primary objective is the enhancement of access to university study through the provision of outstanding, fresh, relevant and effective pathway programmes that meet the needs of domestic and international students and the expectations of government's Tertiary Education Strategy. The Pathways programmes are specially tailored to students who intend to pursue degree-level study.

The University of Waikato invests heavily in the pastoral care of its students. The campus environment in Hamilton is shared with the wider community and the University works closely with the Hamilton City Council and other local government agencies in the region to foster a dynamic student culture. The development and well-being of every student as an individual, and as a 'whole person', is an important dimension of the University's uniqueness. The Halls of Residence on campus, where pass rates of students are significantly higher than average, are a clear example of the University's focus on a supportive learning environment.

In the period 2007 – 2010 the University will invest over $81 million in a capital programme to support learning, teaching and research. All of this is designed to enhance the student learning experience. A new Student Hub, to centralise all student services, is one of the major new building projects which will be phased in over the next three years.

A core element of our Vision is the development of the institution's distinctiveness. The University of Waikato is distinctive in three different respects. Firstly, it offers teaching and research excellence across a broad range of subjects. The University's national leadership in Computer Science, Management, Education and the Sciences has been clearly demonstrated through its top national research rankings in those areas. Secondly, the University has a unique reputation for being student-centred, for treating students as individuals and demonstrating a genuine concern for their well-being. Thirdly, and in parallel, the University offers a genuinely Aotearoa/ New Zealand identity, which extends beyond the excellence of its teaching and research and its student focus and which is unique in New Zealand. The University of Waikato is aligned unambiguously with an Aotearoa/New Zealand national and cultural identity. Our three composite elements of Sustainability, Māori and Leadership are infused through all we do and guide our academic and strategic decision-making.

As stated in our Vision, the University is pursuing strong international linkages to advance knowledge. Over the next few years it will invest in the establishment of a small number of elite international alliances through which it will enhance its international reputation and profile, build staff capability through academic collaboration, enhance student learning through shared curriculum development and student exchanges and collaborate in quality assurance, best practice and benchmarking. International strategic links will bring opportunities to increase research and commercialisation revenue. We will also use these strategic links to support our efforts, in collaboration with our regional business stakeholders, to achieve economic development and transformation outcomes.

Increasing external research investment, from national and international organisations, into the University is fundamental to growing the University's research capability, capacity and reputation. Effective engagement with industry partners, both directly and through collaborative government-funded research, is also vital for successful knowledge transfer. Contract research is an opportunity to attract external funding to build and maintain robust research platforms in areas of strategic importance for the University. In turn these platforms provide leverage for commercialisation activities and contract research for other customers and in other fields. Through UniLink the University is proactive in bringing external investment into University research and through WaikatoLink the University engages with relevant industries to develop research programmes which offer opportunities for commercial development.

The University of Waikato sits at the heart of a strong regional economy and takes pride in the extent to which we reflect and serve the strengths and interests of our region. Through strong links with iwi and our stakeholders we ensure that our graduates and researchers have skills, knowledge and understandings that contribute to the ongoing prosperity and economic sustainability of the nation.

In order to develop an effective network of provision the University of Waikato is working closely alongside the polytechnics and wānanga in our region to enhance tertiary education opportunities for our people and to support the region's social and cultural development and economic sustainability. We are also engaged in plans to collaborate closely with other universities to achieve synergistic benefits where stakeholder need has been established but is unmet by individual institutions.

The future for the University of Waikato is exciting. Our financial base is sound and we have mapped out for ourselves a clear and agreed framework for well-informed strategic investment decisions over the medium-term. Decisions about the University's future will be underpinned by the Vision and the key themes of Excellence, Distinctiveness and International Connectedness. We will continue to work closely with our stakeholders and play an increasingly distinctive role at the centre of a network of provision across our region. We are proud of our evolution into a truly New Zealand institution which, as our motto reflects, supports our country's nation-building policies and reflects our nation's identity - Ko Te Tangata ('For the People').

The University Crest

THE UNIVERSITY OF
WAIKATO
Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato

The motto, Ko Te Tangata, means 'For the People' and reflects the University's philosophy that people are central to the institution and its most valued resource. The outside red border is a stylised fern frond or pitau that symbolises new birth, growth, vitality, strength and achievement. Inside the border is the University's coat of arms. The open book surrounded by the four stars of the Southern Cross is a symbol of learning. The crest design is in the University's colours of black, red and gold.

Honorary Award Recipient

Diggeress Rangituatahi Te Kanawa

The awarding of a University of Waikato honorary doctorate to Diggeress Rangituatahi Te Kanawa is in acknowledgement of her knowledge and commitment to excellence in the fine art of weaving and her key role in maintaining Māori weaving traditions.

Co-founder of Aotearoa Moananui-a-Kiwa Weavers Association, Mrs Te Kanawa is renowned at local, regional, national and international level as a Tohunga Whakairo, Master Artist, and continues to receive recognition and awards at all levels. Her work is exhibited and held in collections in Europe, US and New Zealand, with a recent work commissioned for Te Arikinui King Tuheitia.

She is the recipient of the 1988 Air New Zealand Travel Awards, the Sir Kingi Ihaka Award (2001), and was made an Icon Artist by the Arts Foundation of New Zealand (2003). She is also the author of 'Weaving a Kakahu' - the formal expression of a life committed to weaving.

Mrs Te Kanawa has passed on her knowledge to countless students and researchers, with several of her 12 children and many descendents following in her footsteps. With her daughter Kahutoi, she is holder of the elite Toi Iho registered mark of quality and authenticity awarded to artists for their production and promotion of Māori art.

Diggeress Rangituatahi Te Kanawa is of Ngati Maniapoto and Ngati Kinohaku descent. She is married to Tana Tangitehau Te Kanawa and they have 12 children and over 100 grandchildren, great and great, great grand children. She acknowledges the art passed down to her from her mother Dame Rangimarie Hetet.

God Defend New Zealand

E Ihowa, Atua
O nga Iwi o te Ao
Ata whakarongona
Me aroha noa

Kia hua ko te pai
Kia tau to atawhai
Manaakitia mai
Aotearoa

Gaudeamus

Gaudeamus igitur
Juvenes dum sumus
Gaudeamus igitur
Juvenes dum sumus
Post jocundam juventutem
Post molestam senectutem
Nos habebit humus
Nos habebit humus

Vivat Academia!
Vivant professores!
Vivat Academia!
Vivant professores!
Vivat membrum quodlibet
Vivant membra quaelibet
Semper sint in flore
Semper sint in flore

Alma Mater floreat
Quae nos educavit
Alma Mater floreat
Quae nos educavit
Caros et commilitones
Dissitas in regions
Sparsos, congregavit

Translation

*God of Nations at Thy feet
In the bonds of love we meet
Hear our voices we entreat
God defend our free land*

*Guard Pacific's triple star
From the shafts of strife and war
Make her praises heard afar
God defend New Zealand*

*Let us then be joyful
while we are young
Let us then be joyful
while we are young
After the pleasure of youth
After the burden of old age
The earth will have us
The earth will have us*

*Long live the University
Long live the professors
Long live the University
Long live the professors
Long live every member
Long live all the members
May they ever flourish
May they ever flourish*

*May our Alma Mater thrive
A font of education
May our Alma Mater thrive
A font of education
Friends and colleagues, where'er they are
Whether near or from afar
Heed her invitation*
